Install Elohai first. Once installed you need to wait for it to load, it takes time so do not log in. To log in click the down arrow next to the taskbar and click Elohai in the list. This brings up the log in screen, type your email and password and click ok. When it asks you to enter the time of the first load of the software, select 2 hours. This is because your computer will need to do some initial setup. This is a normal thing, you will not see this screen every time you start Elohai, but you will see it after this initial setup. While the software is still in the setup screen you can either login, which will bring up the Account Summary page, which lists all your accounts and their details, or you can check your inventory. To check inventory, click the down arrow next to the taskbar and click Elohai in the list. This brings up the Inventory screen, to see your inventory click the down arrow next to the taskbar and click Elohai in the list. This brings up the Inventory screen. Click the toolbar icon and click Inventory
