In fact, the dedicated Lightroom CC is an excellent companion to it since it now adds the powerful Photoshop Lightroom 5 patches, which 'alleviate the pain' of working with Aperture. So, what's the blog? Well, it offers an attempt at a more objective evaluation of changes from prior versions, and a means of contextualising the changes through an honest account of good and bad points. There is, generally, a promise of a photo shoot at the end of every review. Maybe I'll catch the Readers. ;-) Adobe has eliminated the “Adobe RGB” color space. This leaves you with the sRGB and Adobe RGB color spaces.
